

ABOUT US

At Lohakart, we are building the intelligence infrastructure for the steel industry.

We began by working directly in steel sourcing, procurement, trading and supply, giving us first-hand insight into the challenges businesses face across pricing, materials, production, energy, logistics and carbon.

Today, we combine our steel industry experience with technology and data to build smarter ways of making these decisions.

Our vision is to connect procurement, plant operations, market intelligence and carbon through one intelligence layer — turning data into better decisions, optimization and eventually execution.

From steel commerce to steel intelligence.

WHAT WE DO

Lohakart connects steel procurement, supply, market intelligence and technology to help businesses source better, manage costs and make smarter decisions.
